

INFOGRAPHIC

Types of stress

Distress

is the body's response to situations in which we feel threats, obstacles or difficulties in achieving important goals and tasks.

Eustress

it is a type of stress that motivates us to act positively and take up challenges

Neustress

it is a stimulus that is neutral for the individual but may lead to eustress or distress in other individuals.