4. MATERIAL FOR PARTICIPANTS: PLAY & ROLE

Role-play 1.: Creating a career path for a person with a passion for art

- A person with a passion for painting discusses their interests with a career advisor who helps them identify potential careers in the creative industries (e.g. artist, curator, graphic designer).

Role-play 2.: Career planning for someone with a passion for technology

- A person with a passion for programming talks to a mentor who helps them understand what IT jobs might be most rewarding for them (e.g. programmer, software engineer, data analyst). You love programming and you are interested in technological innovations. You dream of a job where you can use your technical skills.

Role-play 3.: Identifying professions for a person with a passion for helping others

- A person with a passion for healthcare has a discussion with a career counsellor about different career options in the health and social care sector (e.g. nurse, therapist, social worker). You have a strong desire to help other people and derive satisfaction from work that allows you to improve the lives of others.

Role-play 4: A career path for someone with a passion for sport

- A person with a passion for sport and fitness discusses potential career paths in the sports industry (e.g. personal trainer, sports manager, physiotherapist) with a career advisor. Both sport and fitness are your way of life. You enjoy physical activity and want to work in an industry that allows you to share your passion with others.
