

WORKSHEET 10

There are Catholics and Protestants in my company. I remember that when I was little, Catholics often referred to Protestants as "Loyalists", and this word sounded contemptuous.

There were several Protestant children in my class. I watched them.

I came to the conclusion that they are uglier than "us", but smarter.

I also knew they were just worse. I just didn't know why.

I was 7 or 8 years old at the time and I thought "we" called ourselves "nationalists".

It wasn't until later that I found out I was Catholic.

List the exclusions that come to mind after reading the above text: